The school at Studio Seven is committed to the belief that all human beings are by nature creative and that the creative spirit within each of us needs to be encouraged, nurtured and developed. The goal of this program is to help each student to take pride in their own uniqueness, to enhance individual self esteem, and to further an understanding of their own personal expression.

The students at Studio Seven work directly with the artist in a studio environment. Class sizes are kept small in order to insure direct individual assistance. The curriculum is designed to artistically challenge children and young adults, ages seven through eighteen.

Students at Studio Seven are given hands on experience working with a variety of materials. The exploration of many mediums enhances the developments of techniques, as well as facilitating a working understanding of visual elements. This program also offers historical art perspective that is integrated into the curriculum.

Together we will learn about the world around us, ourselves, and about each other. While involved in this process we will also have a lot of fun.
